Perils of Jaywalkers

Increase After Dark
CHICAGO—A pedestrian takes 12 times as much chance of being killed in the middle of a street at night as in the middle of a block instead of at an intersection, the council of state governments said.

A similar study in Cleveland showed the rate of night time accidents decreased 74 per cent on a busy stretch of road on which lighting was improved.

Strolls With Jap Circs

Must Be Circumspect
YOKOHAMA—American soldiers in Japan were told recently that they may go with Japanese women but they cannot make love to them in public.

Li Guo, a Japanese official, issued an order to all ground forces in Japan banning "a public display of affection as disorderly conduct."

The order said arm-in-arm strolling and "similar actions" would be treated as disorderly conduct.

Tells of Beating at Camp
YOKOHAMA—Navy Capt. S. A. Newman of Pittsburgh, Pa., the only American officer who has returned from his own volition to testify at a war criminal trial in Japan, picked out a prisoner from a group of defendants and asserted:

"I was personally beaten by that man right there."

Newman was testifying at the war criminal trial of eight Japanese charged with atrocities at a prison camp.

He said the defendant he picked out, a Sgt. Kazumasa Maekawa, sword because he had forgotten to blow a whistle at the end of the prison march.

At another trial, Sato Murata, former Japanese army colonel, admitted having given the order to kill Pvt. Everett L. Tyler of Glen Easton, W. Va., after Tyler escaped.

"I was not in my right mind," Murata pleaded, "because of the disgrace of having a prisoner escape."

Something Special
In Parachute Package
BALDWIN, N. Y. - Barney Brown, former paratrooper with the 82nd airborne division, got more than he expected in the way of a souvenir when he picked up a nylon parachute from a grounded Nazi plane in Europe.

Opening 10 months later at home, he found an ermine wrap worth $2,000 picked inside.
